

With a seemingly hopeless heart condition, Jean McFarland just wanted to stop being treated as a number.

Her doctors in Michigan said she had one year to live, and Jean McFarland wanted to spend what little time she had left in what she considered the most beautiful part of the world: Sedona.

She continued her heart treatments in Phoenix, but eventually found her caretaking to be inefficient, uncaring and lacking results. She wanted to find a better alternative. And she didn't have to go far to find it.

She discovered the Heart & Vascular Center of Northern Arizona, whose world-class doctors performed a catheter procedure and a bypass procedure. They then created a treatment plan for her dangerously high cholesterol, once again saving her life and ensuring she received personalized care.

Jean's story is just another example of what our world-class medical talent does every day right here in the Verde Valley at the Heart & Vascular Center of Northern Arizona, a partnership of Flagstaff Medical Center and Verde Valley Medical Center.
